LIBRARY REPORT

The twenty-fifth annual report of the Weeks Library for the year 1922--'23 is submitted to the town.

The work of the Library for the year has continued uninterruptedly except for the two holidays, Memorial Day and July Fourth and the circulation—5829—surpassed our banner year by 206. 39 borrowers' cards have been issued, the majority of the new patrons being children

We have added 169 books, of which ten volumes were presented. Our list of non-fiction is rather meager, as the cost of this class of books is abnormally high and requests for them are infrequent as compared with those for fiction.

We have been unusually economical this year and therefore show a larger balance than usual. This was necessary in order to have money to pay for an addition to the capacity of our card catalog, which after its twenty-five years of service is completely outgrown. Our children's books are receiving hard usage, so that many of them must soon be replaced, and these two items will speedily wipe out our surplus.

The year's accession list follows:

Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

---

To the School Board of Greenland:

The boys and girls of Greenland are worthy of the best we can give them. They will grow up to face conditions of working and living far different from those that we had to face. There will be keen competition. Whether they live in the city or the country, they will have to compete with people who have had the advantages of a first class education. We cannot afford not to give our boys and girls the best teachers and the best schools that we are able to provide.

It is becoming increasingly difficult except in the larger places to get good teachers. During the past spring and summer we scoured the state and invaded Vermont, Maine and Massachusetts in the effort to find qualified teachers who would be willing to come to Greenland. The normal schools are not training enough girls to meet the demand and would have to make a teacher out of one in every three of our high school graduates in order to meet the need of trained teachers. Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey, realizing for some time that they could not supply all their own schools, have increased salaries and invited the cream of the teaching force of New England to come in.

Our problem is to make teaching in our schools so attractive that the best teachers will be willing to come to us and stay with us. Fault-finding and uninformed criticism will not win them. Only a sympathetic understanding of the many problems a teacher has to face daily and a cheerful spirit of working together on the part of all those who have to do with the schools, will make it possible to get and retain good teachers. If living expenses for the teacher are high in Greenland, salaries will need to correspond.

Good teaching is a highly technical matter which has been largely developed and vastly improved in our generation. It is fully as technical as surgery or engineering and requires just as much study and skill. It is no longer a single process that any one can carry out but a multitude of different processes for each one of the studies to be taught, including dozens in arithmetic, six in spelling, ten in reading and numerous others in writing, geography, history, and the other studies. Each one of these processes requires a background of psychological fact and understanding of child nature that only the trained and experienced teacher possesses. The good teacher who understands her business and can train minds and not spoil them is worth as much to the community as the engineer, the architect, the dentist or the surgeon. She should be paid accordingly. The latest report gives the medium salary for village teachers in schools of three rooms or more as $900 for Maine and New Hampshire; $1100 for Massachusetts and Rhode Island; $1200 for Connecticut and New York; and $1400 for New Jersey. This means that most of the teachers in neighboring states except Vermont in schools like ours are receiving more money and shows that we are not paying too much in Greenland.

The good teacher not only understands the business she is hired to carry on, but makes that business her chief interest. It should have first claim to her time and energy. She not only knows how to deal with the boys and girls in her charge, but recognizes that parents have a much higher and more lasting interest in those same boys and girls and is willing to take them into her confidence and co-operate with them in every good work for the children. Long live the Parents-Teachers Association! May it continue to foster as it has done the cordial spirit of friendliness and co-operation between the school and the home.

In spite of the wish for improvement that I have with regard to every school in the Union, I recognize the need of scrutinizing expenses carefully. Yet I cannot see where any of the school money provided for the current year is being spent needlessly or is being squandered. I think Greenland people may well have confidence in the School Board and depend on them to conserve the interests of the town as well as to promote the well-being of the schools.

The cordial friendliness extended to me by the people of Greenland is highly appreciated. The friendly counsel of the School Board and the loyalty of a faithful corps of teachers have made the year's work one of increasing satisfaction.

Respectfully submitted,

O. R. McCOY,

Superintendent of Schools
